I'm unclear on the following example code and i'm hoping someone can help me out. void PrintThing(const std::shared_ptr& spThing) { std::cout << spThing() << endl; //... //create shared_ptr // thing.reset(new Thing()); PrintThing(thing); PrintThing2(thing); thing.reset(emplace(thing)); PrintThing(thing); PrintThing2(thing); //... I run this code and i get the following output: //output this not a const thing not a const thing not a const thing const Thing not a const Thing not a const Thing not a const Thing Why do i get the output, 'not a const thing' for both PrintThing(thing) and PrintThing2(thing), yet when i set the pointer to emplace i get the output i would expect, i.e. 'const Thing'. What I'm expecting to happen is that PrintThing would print 'const Thing', as we're storing a const reference to an empty shared_ptr. Another question i have is this: PrintThing(const Thing& rSrc) i.e. void PrintThing(const std::shared_ptr

Problem is that original file location is empty (see screenshot below), and using registry key GetZoneInformation() I find that the location is for example HKEY_LOCAL_MACHINE\Software\Microsoft\Windows\CurrentVersion\Explorer\ShellNew\Scavenger while the location from where we downloaded ISO file is Scavenger folder. So I think that the problem is that this location doesn't have rights to get a file or folder from another location. If you need to know where original file is located on your computer, you can use the following code: if (GetZoneInformation() != null) { using (RegistryKey key = GetZoneInformation().OpenSubKey("Default")) { if (key != null) { using (RegistryKey key1 = key.OpenSubKey("Path")) { if (key1 != null) { using (FileStream fs = File.OpenRead(key1.Path)) {
